SATURDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1906

The losses by fire in this State the present year amount to the large sum of nearly two million dollars.

E. Ellery Anderson called upon Speaker Crisp during his stay in New York. It is not stated whether the Speaker had his speech all prepared in advance for this occasion, but the chances are that he was not at a loss for words to express his opinion of the Reform Club incident.

Gov. Burleigh has issued proclamations declaring in accordance with the vote of the people the adoption of the amendments to the Constitution for an educational qualification of voters, and providing for the appointment of Adjutant General by the Governor, to take effect on the first Wednesday in January.

The latest rumor is that Carlisle and Morrison will go into the cabinet and that Congressman Springer will be set aside and Congressman Wilson placed at the head of the Committee on Ways and Means. As all three of these gentlemen are rampant free traders, their selection, if they have the courage of their convictions, would necessarily make a radical revision of the tariff on free trade lines.

The New York World starts a back fire on Boss Murphy by bringing out the greenback token as a candidate for the Senate in each month of the year. The purpose of putting this token in the hands of the people is to show that the Tammany machine had to abandon its support as the venerable editor declined to have his name used in that connection. It now remains to be seen whether the World is more successful. If Murphy secures the plum in spite of the combined opposition it is safe to say that he will not take the material for his biographical sketch from the columns of the World.

The chief topic of conversation in political circles is the jolly row now going on between the "snappers" and "anti-snappers" over the New York Senatorship. The feeling was at fever heat before Mr. Cleveland took a hand but now that he has had himself interviewed in several papers in order to use the prestige of his position to defeat the election of Murphy, the Tammany brasses are engaged in a war dance that gives promise of lively times ahead. Mayor Flower takes occasion to remind the President elect that he owes a great deal to the loyalty of Murphy in the recent as well as in past campaigns, and goes on to the flames by giving out for publication the very curt disclaimer received by him from Mr. Cleveland, in reply to a polite invitation to the President-elect to be present at a reception to be given by the Governor next month. The evident intention of all this is to show that Mr. Cleveland is determined to keep alive the political animosities between the divided factions in New York State.

Senator Hill refuses to be interviewed on the recent developments in the Senatorial fight, but it is understood that he inspired the following editorial utterances which appeared in the columns of the Albany Evening Journal and the Albany Herald. The Mugwump journals seem to have adopted a new theory in regard to the election of United States Senators. According to them the wishes of the President-elect are first to be consulted and nobody is to be chosen unless stamped with his personal approval. This theory implies that the Senator is to represent the President and not the State, and if carried out it would no doubt, give us a homogenous personal government, but it would not be the sort of government designed by the framers of the Constitution. The constitution declares that "the Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, chosen by the Legislature thereof. It does not say that the Senators shall be chosen by the President or the President-elect. It would be an outrage upon every principle of public affairs than Mr. Cleveland should throw his vast weight of his prospective Federal patronage into the scale to control the free choice of the Senators by the Legislature of the State of New York.

Mr. Murphy was as good as a Mayor of Troy as Mr. Cleveland was of Buffalo, he is a better educated man, has more political manners, has had more experience in politics, and has a more thorough knowledge of public affairs than Mr. Cleveland ever had. His qualifications, therefore, cannot be reasonably denied. True, he was opposed to the re-nomination of Mr. Cleveland by the Democrats of this State, and when the National Convention had decided, he supported the nomination with all his energy and influence, and exerted himself with unexampled generosity to elect the candidate whose nomination he had deemed dangerous and unwelcome. The fact is well known to every man who knows the true weakness of New York politics, that there is no man more capable of doing the work of a Senator than Mr. Cleveland. He is more unselfish, more devoted to the interests of the State than Mr. Cleveland, and his love and unselfish devotion to the interests of the Democratic party. Let the Mugwumps rage and imagine a vain thing. The Legislature will elect the Senator.

Books (raker declined to say anything about the interview so far as it concerned Mr. Cleveland, but of Murphy he said: "I could not say too much in praise of Mr. Murphy if I tried. He thoroughly deserves the office to which he aspires, and among the real Democrats of the State there is no opposition to him, and there is no cause for any opposition to him." He added: "I will do all I can for him, no matter who may oppose him." It will thus be seen that Croker does not include the President-elect among the "real Democrats" of the State and discounts the opposition of Mr. Cleveland in a manner that will be humiliating to the self esteem of the would-be dictator of the party. As Croker is the man who manipulates the Tammany machine, his contemptuous reference to the wishes of the President-elect indicates a purpose to carry out the programme of the bosses in spite of the opposition of Mr. Cleveland and the "anti-snappers."

Consolidator Brown, another Tammany brave, is even more outspoken and doubtless voices the sentiments of the wigwags. He said: "To my mind it shows Cleveland's impotence toward anybody who opposes him, who he thinks has done more for the State than he has."

man cannot handle pilot without getting his fingers soiled. During the campaign Cleveland was not averse to the use of such means as Murphy, I trust, he was in daily conference with Murphy and his friends, who were the recognized leaders of the canvass in the Empire State, and placed himself under obligations to the very man who now turns around and denounces. At that time Mr. Cleveland knew all about the Senatorial ambition of the Tammany boss, but not a word of opposition passed his lips until his own election was assured. That may have been the true policy for the wily politician, but it coincides with the role he is now trying to assume.

The constitution declares that "the Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, chosen by the Legislature thereof. It does not say that the Senators shall be chosen by the President or the President-elect. It would be an outrage upon every principle of public affairs than Mr. Cleveland should throw his vast weight of his prospective Federal patronage into the scale to control the free choice of the Senators by the Legislature of the State of New York.

Mr. Murphy was as good as a Mayor of Troy as Mr. Cleveland was of Buffalo, he is a better educated man, has more political manners, has had more experience in politics, and has a more thorough knowledge of public affairs than Mr. Cleveland ever had. His qualifications, therefore, cannot be reasonably denied. True, he was opposed to the re-nomination of Mr. Cleveland by the Democrats of this State, and when the National Convention had decided, he supported the nomination with all his energy and influence, and exerted himself with unexampled generosity to elect the candidate whose nomination he had deemed dangerous and unwelcome. The fact is well known to every man who knows the true weakness of New York politics, that there is no man more capable of doing the work of a Senator than Mr. Cleveland. He is more unselfish, more devoted to the interests of the State than Mr. Cleveland, and his love and unselfish devotion to the interests of the Democratic party. Let the Mugwumps rage and imagine a vain thing. The Legislature will elect the Senator.

Books (raker declined to say anything about the interview so far as it concerned Mr. Cleveland, but of Murphy he said: "I could not say too much in praise of Mr. Murphy if I tried. He thoroughly deserves the office to which he aspires, and among the real Democrats of the State there is no opposition to him, and there is no cause for any opposition to him." He added: "I will do all I can for him, no matter who may oppose him." It will thus be seen that Croker does not include the President-elect among the "real Democrats" of the State and discounts the opposition of Mr. Cleveland in a manner that will be humiliating to the self esteem of the would-be dictator of the party. As Croker is the man who manipulates the Tammany machine, his contemptuous reference to the wishes of the President-elect indicates a purpose to carry out the programme of the bosses in spite of the opposition of Mr. Cleveland and the "anti-snappers."

Consolidator Brown, another Tammany brave, is even more outspoken and doubtless voices the sentiments of the wigwags. He said: "To my mind it shows Cleveland's impotence toward anybody who opposes him, who he thinks has done more for the State than he has."

MAINE NEWS.

MAINE PEDAGOGUE.

Interceding Proceedings of the Convention.

LEWISTON, Dec. 22. Friday afternoon the hall was overcrowded to listen to the proceedings of the Pedagogical convention. The first hour was devoted to exercises in physical culture, with drills by pupils in four classes of the Lewiston schools, under direction of Miss Gilbert, teacher of physical training. President Hyde, of Bowdoin, read a paper on the typical method of teaching. He detailed his ideas of the superior advantage of teaching civil government, physiology, history and kindred studies by giving topics in advance; and those topics repeated and utilized as the basis of investigation.

He thought in this way one would get the thrill, equivalent to that obtained by the study of Latin, Greek and Mathematics. Superintendent J. B. Burke, of Waterville, delivered an address on the course of literature in primary and grammar schools. Henry T. Bailey, State Supervisor of Drawing in Massachusetts schools, delivered an address in drawing in the common schools. It was illustrated by blackboard work and models.

In the absence of Prof. Esterbrook, of Orono, Dr. J. H. Hanson, of Waterville, delivered his paper on phonetic teaching of the alphabet, in which he laid the grave faults in the language to improper instruction in the alphabet and the remedy for which he outlined by illustrations from his own school work. Rev. B. P. Snow briefly discussed Mr. Bailey's paper on drawing.

The evening session of the Maine Pedagogical Society was very largely attended. A class of Lewiston Grammar School pupils gave a drill in calligraphy and a class of twelve High School young ladies in Greek costumes gave a very beautiful scene of movement to music. Prof. C. C. Rounds, of the New Hampshire State Normal School, delivered a lecture on "Lines of Advance," a treatment of the growth of education of the middle ages and the issue of today.

He argued for compulsory education, manual training in the schools and the division of the church from the school. Prof. Geo. C. Purlington, principal of the Farmington Normal School, made a report in behalf of the council of the society upon the district school system. In it he recommended the abolition of the district school system and the establishment of a State board of education. They were vigorously supported by the society and awakened a warm discussion.

MONEY ORDER OFFICES.

Thirty-seven New Orders to be Designated in Maine.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20. About 1400 post offices will be designated Jan. 2, 1921, as additional domestic money order offices to begin business on the receipt of books and blanks now in the course of preparation, which will be furnished them before Jan. 15. The number of new money order offices in Maine is 37.

SHOCK A LEG.

Westport Fire Ladder Held Annual Ball.

WINTHROP, Dec. 20. Payson Tucker Hose Company held their sixth annual ball in Town Hall this evening. A large number was present, many being from out of town. Music was furnished by Dennis's orchestra, of Augusta. It was a grand success.

A FATAL PURCHASE.

Man Shot by Revolver—Not Known if North Leeds, Dec. 20. Ernest Rose, aged about thirty, who lives at "Slab City," so called, went to Lewiston Wednesday, at the request of his wife, to draw some five hundred dollars of her money. While there he purchased a revolver and in the evening after his return he went out doors. A pistol shot was heard and it was found he was shot through the abdomen and cannot possibly recover.

DEATH IN BELFAST.

Of Well Known Citizens of that Place.

BELFAST, Dec. 20. Michael H. Keating, an insurance agent, died to-day of paralysis. He was 62 years old.

Hiram D. Pierce, a wholesale ice dealer, died to-day, aged 72.

PARDON CASES.

Acted Upon by the Governor and Council—Liquor Commission's Report.

ALBANY, Dec. 20. The Governor and Council at last evening's session granted a pardon to James J. Libby, who shot Lydia Snow in a hotel at Portland and was sentenced for life October 24, 1885. Libby is now in the State insane hospital and it is thought cannot live long.

The petitioners for the pardon of Colby Moore and Patrick Bell, were given leave to withdraw. The pardon cases of Benjamin Chadbourne, Robert Hughes and James Newcomb, were referred to the next Council. A long hearing occurred on the Chadbourne case to-day. The Council confirmed the entire list of nominations.

Liquor Commissioner Gilmore's report showed the value of liquors handled was $189,339.20.

WELL-KNOWN HUSBAND.

Death of Secretary King of Charities.

HARTFORD, Conn., Dec. 20. Thomas G. King, secretary of the Charter Oak Association, died at 4 o'clock this afternoon. An operation to remove a malignant tumor on the right side was performed Sunday from which Mr. King rallied but later was taken with a hemorrhage and sank rapidly. Mr. King had been secretary of the Charter Oak Park Drive Association and the great financial success of the association is due in large measure to his efficient management. He is well known among business men all over the country.
